RE: Request to Remove All References to Sacharnoski

Dear Mr. Thompson:

I have been asked by Mr. Don Cunningham to review the claims made by you on behalf of Mr. Rod Sacharnoski in your letter dated January 11, 2001.

I have reviewed the postings on the bulletin board. My client believes that any statements he made are true. As you know, true statements are always within the law and not considered defamatory. Moreover, it seems that all of the statements go directly to the qualifications and accreditation claimed by Mr. Sacharnoski in his public solicitations for students for his martial arts school, a matter of public concern and privileged speech.

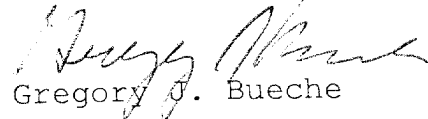

Your demand to remove all website references to Mr. Sacharnoski, whether true or not, is entirely inappropriate. Mr. Sacharnoski does not have a right to censor truthful statements contradicting his public claims of accreditation and qualifications.

In the interests of conciliation, if you can point out any specific statements and tell me why they are unfairly made or false, Mr. Cunningham would consider the rebuttal. Until then, Mr. Cunningham will stand by his opinion that all of his statements are fairly made and true, and will not remove any statements from the bulletin board.

As a final note, Mr. Cunningham informs me that Mr. Sacharnoski has contacted him at home and threatened violence. Please ask your client to cease any contact with Mr. Cunningham except through me.

Yours very truly,

Gregory J. Bueche
